

DIGITIZATION IN THE HUMANITIES

Friday, April 5–
Sunday, April 7, 2013

Farnsworth Pavilion
Ley Student Center

Free and open to the public - SEE BELOW

The workshop offers hands-on introductions to some of the basic tools and methods in the emerging field of digital humanities. Collaborating with Oxford University and King's College, Rice University has invited six gurus from the field to teach markup, text-mining, network analysis and megadata management. The workshop provides opportunities to create collaboration between computational- and humanities-oriented research on campus, as well as with researchers outside of Rice University.

INSTRUCTORS

Marcus Bingenheimer
Temple University

Shih-Pei Chen
Institute for Quantitative Social Science, Harvard University

David Mimno
Princeton University

Derek Ruths
McGill University

Timothy Tangherlini
University of California at Los Angeles

Dennis Tenen
Columbia University

ORGANIZERS

Anne Chao
Rice University

Hilde De Weerd
King's College London

Judith Pfeiffer
University of Oxford

SPONSORS

Humanities Research Center
Chao Center for Asian Studies
Fondren Library
Ken Kennedy Institute for Information
Technology
Office of Graduate and Postdoctoral
Studies
Ancient Mediterranean Civilizations
University of Oxford
King's College London
Texas A&M

School of Humanities
Rice University

REGISTRATION REQUIRED

Spots are limited and will be granted on a first-come, first-serve basis.
Please email LAURENK@RICE.EDU to register.
Participants will need to bring their own laptops

A full schedule and topic abstracts is listed at <http://hrc.rice.edu/digitizationhuma/>